Indian Mountain State Park

Indian Mountain State Park is a multi-use facility in Campbell County near Tennessee’s northern border. Visitors to the 213-acre park enjoy fishing at the lake, picnicking, camping, and hiking on the three walking trails. Although the park’s name would indicate that it is located on a mountain, it is actually located at the base of the mountain.

Historical Significance

The park is unique in that it was developed on reclaimed strip mine land. The city of Jellico originally acquired the park in the late 1960s through a federal open space grant under provisions of the 1961 Federal Housing Act. Utilizing grants from the State of Tennessee, the Appalachian Regional Commission, and the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency, the park was developed as a reclamation project in which abandoned strip mining pits were converted to recreational use. Indian Mountain became a state park in 1971.

Camping

There are 47 sites with concrete pads to serve both tent and RV campers. The sites have water, electricity with 50-amp breakers and a dump station. All sites have picnic tables and grills are located throughout the camping area. A bathhouse with restrooms and showers is available to campers. Pets are welcome at Indian Mountain State Park, but are required to be on a leash. There is also a designated area for group camping.

Planned Programs

The park offers many interpretative programs focusing on plants, local history, and animals under the direction of a seasonal ranger during the summer months.

Fishing

Fishing is allowed year round. Our lake is stocked periodically with bass, crappie, blue gill, shell cracker, catfish, and carp. A valid Tennessee Fishing License is required.

Hiking

There are three trails with a combined distance of three miles. All trails are rated moderate and one of the trails is paved.

Boating

Row boat and pedal boat rentals are available except during winter months. Personal canoes, kayaks and electric trolling motors are allowed on the lake year-round.

Picnic Pavilions

Indian Mountain has three picnic shelters, which can be reserved for a small non-refundable fee. If shelters are not reserved, visitors may use them on a first-come first-serve basis. All the picnic shelters have grills and restrooms are located nearby.

Other Recreation

Other recreation activities include: basketball, volleyball, horseshoes, and play grounds.
